

Oklahoma Farmgirl

Richard A. Love

Married right out of high school, she never knew the single life
She turned from an anxious girl into a country wife
He never knew how to hold her, she didn't know what to say
All those years of being alone must have made him that way

She was an Oklahoma farmgirl living in a big city world
Just sittin' by while her love unfurled, she never knew what to be
She was an Oklahoma farmgirl not ready for the big city world
Her eyes were blue, her hair was curled, she was pretty good to me

From an unforgiving farm town to a city that just doesn't care
She could always be a waitress just about anywhere
Then no one could run her life, she'd be finally free
And pouring some old man coffee when she ran into me

She was an Oklahoma farmgirl living in a big city world
Just sittin' by while her love unfurled, she never knew what to be
She was an Oklahoma farmgirl not ready for the big city world
Her eyes were blue, her hair was curled, she was pretty good to me

I hope the years have been as good to you as they've been to me
You know we both went different ways, some things just gotta be
You just had to chase your dreams, I had to chase mine
Thank the Lord that you and I were together for a time

She was an Oklahoma farmgirl living in a big city world
Just sittin' by while her love unfurled, she never knew what to be
She was an Oklahoma farmgirl not ready for the big city world
Her eyes were blue, her hair was curled, she was pretty good to me
