

Rock Star Dish Washer Richard 'Daddy' Love 12/17/12

I got my hands in soapy water, Rock & Roll in my heart
Got a gig this week at the legion hall, that's gonna be my start
I got me a beat up Fender, and an amp that really screams
Got a lousy job and a bunch of folks, trying to crush my dreams
I got a radio playing Led Zeppelin, water-soaked tennis shoes
I'm a Rock Star Dish Washer, just paying my dues

The cook he's screaming for platters, waitress says bus tub's full
Me I'm playing a little air guitar, just trying to keep my cool
Someday I'm gonna buy this place, they'll all be working for me
My band is gonna make it big, someday they'll all see
Right now I'm just killing time, ain't got a damn thing to lose
I'm a Rock Star Dish Washer, just paying my dues

Just paying my dues, just paying my dues - CHORUS
I got my hands in soapy water, just paying my dues
Just paying my dues, just paying my dues
I'm a Rock Star Dish Washer, just paying my dues

That waitress she's so pretty, won't give me the time of day
She's gonna be all over me, first time she hears me play
Try to sneak backstage, and bring her girlfriends to my shows
I'll play it cool and say "don't I know you? From that diner I suppose"
I'll knock 'em dead with Rock & Roll, and some tasty Rhythm & Blues
I'm a Rock Star Dish Washer, just paying my dues

CHORUS
